1. OBSERVATION

(Disclaimer) Hello good readers,

My first time writing a story different from my usual interest but the moment I fell in love with HTTYD, which was a while back dunno why it took me this long to create this story of my own BUT back to the point of course I don't own HTTYD. Oh the joy if I did~ we all know the rights go to so other than that please review (NO hate or DISLIKE reviews, it will include future Toothless/Hiccup pairing. If you do not favor simply click away for others will enjoy. please keep it clean and to yourselves)Enjoy!

> The Hiccup project

Chapter 1 : Observation.

He watched him. His dark green eyes has not left the small human boy since the battle with Red death or when they arrived at the dragon academy first thing in the morning, yet they still continue to follow the boys movements as he tries to get the two headed, sparking fire hazard under control and that wasn't even the worst part he still had the zippleback to deal with. His attempts to reason with the twins are slipping away with the zippleback off to the side repeatedly biting at each other and clouding with gas, his attention is pulled away back to the dragon which if sparked once could very well blow up and roast them all. Not something that would have been much of a reason to be explained to his father and the rest of Berk.

Toothless reacts this time. Seeing the distress creeping onto hiccup's face to this situation spiraling out of control, it stirs his insides making him unhappy to see his human unhappy with the other three not being very much help; Astrid, the pretty much toughest of the rest, trying not to beat the senses into the twins more likely threatening to use them as targets for her own amusement. Fishlegs just remains quiet using his voice as little as possible to calm everyone down though seeing his very few words not helping he just gives up with Meatlug beside him and begins singing lullabies, like that is anything but helping the situation. Snotlout is beyond the worst help out of the three. He sits off to the side closer to Hookfang laughing at the current dispute encouraging the fight rather than trying to stop it just enjoying the stress being held on hiccup. Toothless, having no other choice, tears his eyes from hiccup for the moment lighting up his mouth and firing allowing the ground to rumble getting everyone's attention including the Zippleback which he now has under control with a growl.

Toothless notices now that hiccup's back no longer turned towards him seeing that smile, that smile that makes him beautiful and that toothless loves the most. His smile of a 'thank you' towards toothless for calming down the dragon and the rest, he can only smile back at him. The strange feeling toothless isn't familiar with raises questions with himself unsure about what is causing this reaction. When he approaches, toothless sits up straight, waiting for that pat on the head and it comes soon enough enjoying it while he can.

Hiccup smiles more, "Thanks bud. I owe you a fish later alright."

Toothless licks hiccup's face in excitement as the others watch then their attention is back on the twins still bickering about something.

"Just admit it! I know it was you, it smells of girl and I know what they smell like" Tuffnut crosses his arms as if he won some kind of award for knowing what girls smell like. Ruffnut just snorts at him.

"As if, you brain dead piece of butt jerky. Like you even know what girls smell like you spent a week without bathing just to smell your own stink" Ruffnut shudders lightly while the others who are still engaged in their conversation respond with a 'ew'.

Tuffnut nods his head with a smile "and it was worth it."

"What was it you two were fighting about anyways"

"She touched my boots." Tuffnut gives a slight duh before getting Astrid's glare

She sighs once and they are drawn to small sound of laughter coming from the direction of toothless and hiccup. Toothless, still licking hiccup's face, has both paws down on hiccup holding him on the ground being careful not to crush the boy underneath while enjoying the sound of hiccup laughing from being ticklish but also loving how he is discovering parts of hiccup he never knew and growling in approval.

Hiccup still laughs and thrashes around a bit from toothless continued licking "T-t-toothless..!"

Toothless has the sense of being relaxed now unlike before seeing hiccup unhappy and he still growls with approval. It takes a moment before he stops assaulting hiccup with his tongue and looks up at everyone watching them. For a dragon, toothless still has a lot to learn about human reactions and feelings and so forth so he looks at the others in question before looking down at hiccup who looks embarrassed now. He slowly rises off of hiccup helping him up watching everyone's current but fading away expressions to the position they were in. Astrid looks at them with a hint of disgust in her eyes but she turns away, Tuffnut and Ruffnut watches with disbelief before getting distracted by something else, Fishlegs still singing lullabies to Meatlug and Snotlout couldn't care less other than checking himself out in the reflective part of the shields used for training. Hiccup dusts himself off walking over a bit before bracing what felt like forever silence.

"So who's hungry" Hiccup says loudly and they react agreeing with him.

"I'm starving, trying to figure out what girls smell like made me hungry" Tuffnut exclaims before pushing Ruffnut getting on the zippleback first.

The rest jumps on their own dragons, taking off to the sky and Hiccup being the last to leave climbs on toothless with a smile giving another pat to his head.

"let's go bud" and they are gone into the sky.

>Later into the night, toothless becomes restless hearing hiccup talking to his father downstairs below him, turning onto side until eventually getting up trailing downstairs hearing their voices more clearly keeping the distance still from their view and watches once again those green eyes never leaving hiccup. Toothless watches hiccup's movements and his face watching it change weather hiccup is rolling his eyes at his father's comments or sighing at what he was saying. After an hour of the discussion, hiccup starts to slouch and using the table as a rest to lean against followed by a yawn and the realization the expression and gesture toothless has seen before. 'Tired' toothless realizes on what hiccup is feeling, how the yawn sneaks up on people even dragons getting desperate wanting to feel the comfort of a bed and slip off to dream land then he is remembering earlier. '_Laughter' _he has seen hiccup laughing before numerous times with his friends and with him, he also couldn't forget how ticklish hiccup was that was surely something to be noted. Getting lost in thought, toothless looks back up at hiccup and starts to approach them until they notice him.

"Toothless? What are you doing awake" Hiccup moves from his rest on the table going over to him and getting the slight nudge from his head.

Stoic turned seeing toothless as well "Looks like someone doesn't want to be alone. Go on to bed son ill see you in the morning"

"Good night dad. Come on bud" Hiccup pat toothless before getting halfway up the stairs only to be almost trampled and knocked backwards by the ram paging night fury in a hurry to get to the room "Woah, what on earth" finally making it to the top hiccup looked at toothless who is waiting so innocently on his bed.

"Toothless your in such a hurry to get to bed. I'm sorry I made you wait then" Hiccup climbs into his own bed smiling at toothless, "Goodnight toothless" Toothless gives a low grunt before hiccup lays down turning off his light. During the hours of the night toothless tosses and switching sides to sleep on until he gives sitting up taking the moment to look around and hearing the small, light snoring of the one in the bed. Toothless listens more before making his way over to hiccup sitting at his bed side and watching his face again, it brings back those memories when hiccup lost his foot to the battle of red death and how he watched him hoping he would wake up. '_Fear' _a word toothless knew already he has seen too many times weather it was with hiccup or not, he has seen fear even on hiccup's face from the first time they met. He didn't want to see it again.

Not on Hiccup. Not again.

Toothless fought that pit in his stomach to wake him up. The last time he woke up Hiccup all he got was scolding and no pats on the head for a day, rather depressing for toothless and a quiet whine escaped his mouth before watching him again for a bit seeing the sky starting to light up with morning approaching.

Hiccup tosses a little this time feeling like a heavy sack was placed on him and a sigh escapes his lips, letting his eyes flutter open to the brightness of the sky and thinking to his now awaken mind '_Damn Gobber better not have used my room as a storage unit again' _once his eyes are open, realization hits him in the face along with someone's drool more like _somethings. _Hiccup stares up at toothless who is sitting on him and face not so far from his own just staring down at him now happy he is awake. Hiccup's reaction this time was different to toothless instead of the usual good morning he watches hiccup jump and when he does toothless shifts to the side letting hiccup's slender body slide out and hit the floor with a thud.

"Ouch. What in Thor's name are you doing toothless!" Hiccup starts to rub where he landed and giving toothless a slight glare. Toothless just watches hiccup again more than likely now not even listening to what he is saying or even trying to understand.

"Earth to toothless" Hiccup just sighs failing to get the dragons attention again just noticing imprints in the bed symbolizing toothless had definitely been _on _hiccup mostly the entire night.

"No that's definitely not creepy, I guess" Hiccup sighed once more taking a note that toothless was still staring and it wasn't just at him, he was staring at _something _which finally made hiccup look himself which was down.

Oh. Dear. Thor.

A scream almost escape from hiccup's mouth which was a good thing he held it back it wouldn't have sounded so manly. From his waist down he was nude. Completely exposed for some reason toothless was memorized by it and already awkward as it is it was just making hiccup embarrassed to the point his face is red to the ears. Hiccup struggled trying to move searching for the disappearance of his pants grabbing the blanket first to cover up making toothless jump off of it then seeing his pants slide out from under. With a sigh hiccup reaches for them '_Thank Thor. They must have slipped off when I fell out of the bed' _Hiccup, just inches away before toothless snatches them away with his mouth and sitting on the other side of the bed, head tilt so innocently.

Hiccup just sighs a little and looks at toothless as if he was talking to a puppy "Toothless, it is too early for this. Can I have my pants please?"

Toothless just staring back at him without a budge waiting till hiccup tries to reach for them and just jumps away. Watching slight anger crawling onto hiccup's face now as he keeps trying to retrieve his pants only toothless keeps moving away and the chase begins the game of Retrieve the Pants. Downstairs already awake, Stoic looks up curiously to the sounds of wrestling upstairs coming from his son's room.

"What in the name of Thor" Stoic arms himself ready in case someone was trying to kidnap his boy again and kicks the door open making hiccup and toothless freeze in place. Stoic stares in disbelief this time. Over a night fury which was on its back was his son, his very own _flesh and blood _pulling clothing from its mouth..._WITH NO PANTS ON. _Seeing his father standing at the door way and seeing their position, hiccup's face already holding a never ending red to his ears. Toothless is drawn away from stoic and to hiccup's face, letting go of his pants, studying the red on his face. Unsure of what reaction this was it was still somewhat familiar to toothless, he has seen it on hiccup's face before when Astrid kissed him and when he realized his pants were gone. Toothless just watches them back and forth trying to understand what is going on but instead reads hiccup's face.

"Dear Thor...What on earth is going on in here! Why are you pant less boy!" Stoic exclaims loudly getting toothless attention again.

"I have a good reason...sort of. It was a misunderstanding dad, We were just...playing a game." Hiccup attempts to pull on his pants trying to explain this extremely awkward scene.

"Oh Thor. Please tell me you weren't..."

"Not like that!" Hiccup finally fully clothed again yelling at his dad's mind which is falling under a _dirty_ category making a thought of how dragons would even have sex with humans appear but he shakes it off as soon as it appears.

Stoic sighs in relief, "Well hurry up downstairs then your food is getting cold"

Hiccup watches Stoic disappear downstairs again and immediately turns to toothless, raising a finger at him and toothless lowers his head at the reaction.

"Bad toothless! You almost got me in trouble for something I didn't even do! Do not do that again" Hiccup says with a cute but angry expression only makes toothless keep his head down. Toothless knows this one. '_Anger_' something tooth hardly sees unless he does something wrong or when snotlout does something, he doesn't mind if it's someone else in fact for some reason he likes when hiccup tries to look angry. He looks so adorable but right now he was mad and at him.

Toothless brings his head back up to hiccup and licks his face over again until the angry expression is gone from his face. With a smile now hiccup scratches under toothless head holding it up as well,

"It is alright bud, I forgive you"

Toothless smiles back before giving another licking to his face "Alright let's go bud. Dad is waiting downstairs" Hiccup turns towards the stairs letting toothless bolt downstairs like an over excited dog going for a walk. He only smiles watching him and following after. Making it to the bottom and his way over to the table sitting down to eating while throwing a fish to toothless who is waiting eagerly for it. After a few minutes the doors kick open to Gobber stomping in with a good morning.

"Good morning you two" Gobber says with a look like he was told a dirty little secret. Hiccup now getting suspicious with Gobbers sudden look " Good morning, Gobber"

"So Hiccup, any plans for the academy today?"

"I guess. Why?" Hiccup starts getting more suspicious

"Well, you know thought you and toothless where staying in today. You know what I mean, wrestling with each other for the day. With no pants!" Gobber says out loud with a laugh and hiccup chokes on his water, coughing following after.

"How did you-Dad!" Hiccup turns red again and toothless watches still trying to grasp that reaction and how hiccup is feeling. Stoic appears after hearing his name called.

"What is it son"

"You told Gobber about what happened up there!"

"Hm? Oh _that _well yeah"

"From the time it took for me to get down here!"

"It slipped" Stoic says with a small shrug watching hiccup sigh and hand smacking face and resting there, elbow holding it up on the table.

"Don't feel bad Hiccup, we all have urges your still young though your urges are slightly weird with a dragon" Gobber now trying to imagine how that would work.

"We weren't doing THAT, Gobber" Hiccups hand leaving his face for a moment

" Oh well then wrestling half naked isn't bad either. Just make sure your using protection" Gobber says patting hiccups back once before taking the seat next to him. Hiccup just let's his head slide and smack the table once, face down

"Was it something I said?" Gobber shrugs once at Stoic

"I think you just ruined the mind of my son, Gobber" Stoic makes his way over taking the last seat "Don't worry Hiccup, no one else will know about this"

"Ah the famous talk, huh? Don't worry Hiccup, we know all the stuff including the birds and the bees. How everything works. You wanna know how babies are made-" Gobber rambling about 'the talk' is cut off Hiccup interrupts him.

"I DO NOT want to hear that! Toothless let's go!" Hiccup dashes out the door and toothless running after him.

"Guess he doesn't want to hear the 'talk'" Gobber says looking back at Stoic who is glaring at him now and replies by smacking the side of Gobbers head.

>During most of the day, Hiccup avoids going home and stays around the academy or where he and toothless can be alone. Hiccup sits with toothless beside him and sighs about the torture he endured just this morning.

Toothless watches him again quietly not leaving his face.

"So embarrassing, huh toothless at least you don't have to worry about that" Hiccup only sighs more "Like I don't know the 'talk' of course I do! I already know where babies come from and...how they are made. I'm aware of what sexual intercourse is!"

'_Embarrassing_' toothless gathers in the word now that must have been the word he was looking for to explain Hiccups face before when he turned red but he was right. Toothless would never have to worry about being embarrassed not something he would actually feel since he is a dragon. It was unusual though how humans could feel something like embarrassment to toothless it was unusual. The fear of hiccup being distressed again came over on toothless deciding to quickly change it by licking hiccups face again getting a immediate smile from him.

"It's alright bud. I'm alright" Hiccup says giving a light kiss to toothless on his nose and toothless stares in a bit of sudden shock, trying to make of what that was he just did. Toothless stare only making hiccup smile more.

"It is called a kiss toothless"

Toothless forms the words in his head '_kiss' _was that was he was doing to hiccup all this time? _Kissing _him?

"You do that to people you like, toothless. Well kissing can be as a greeting and for family but meant more for someone you love" Hiccup pats toothless more smiling at his attempts to understand his words. Toothless sits up and licks hiccup's face again and again until he is holding hiccup down again, licking him and making him laugh like before. It gets a little different because this time toothless nips a little at hiccup avoiding hurting him with too much teeth.

"T-T-toothless..." Hiccup laughs again from all the kisses toothless was giving him and slightly biting him, making him laugh all the more one of the things toothless loves about him including his smile the most. '_Love' _another word that toothless takes to mind also bits of what hiccup was explaining about kissing and love for someone. Maybe toothless was kissing hiccup so much for the same reason? Toothless still has a lot to learn about humans- about _his_ human. He countered enough of emotions and reactions from hiccup but did he know enough about what he likes? Ticklish was already established and shy about his body in way, he understood too but what else did he liked. What other things did hiccup like and what made him feel good? Toothless ponders his inner thoughts forgetting that hiccup is underneath him for the moment before feeling him squirm then suddenly jumps off of him. Toothless just notices now that hiccup is red again and he is unsure why until noticing that Hiccup's hands are covering over his lower area between the legs...

>Guess I should end it just about there, don't you think? Don't want this one chapter going on so long so braking the rest for another chapter.

Please review, my pretties!

KILLMARA~

2. PLANNING

Sorry for this chapter being so late, everyone, I honestly hit a road block and my job being the pain it always is. It became a while before I got some time but anyways you all know the same disclaimer as I said before I own nothing of HTTYD, if only I did my life would be fantastic.

Please, once again, enjoy this chapter and keep it clean. There will be possible points of possessive Toothless, Hiccup masturbation and Astrid hating. If you see something you don't like, such as still possible grammar problems (my word doc doesn't like to work properly at times) then keep it to yourself. Thank you and enjoy my darlings.

CHAPTER 2: PLANNING

The sound of rustling, the first thing being heard so loudly in the morning, was never a big surprise to wake up too. Or was it? Nope. Especially when your living with a dragon that has stolen your pants before and watching you sleep. That's nothing to get worked up about...right?

'_Toothless_' Hiccup's thought when he turns on his side from laying on his back, fighting the urge to open his eyes; if he should face what was making such a noise. He doesn't have much of a choice here and should see what his Dragon was doing so early. Hiccup slowly let's his eyes flutter open before rubbing them lightly and sitting up, glancing around the room for the noise that apparently stopped with no sign of Toothless around or on his bed.

'Toothless? Where did he go" Hiccup wonders where Toothless has gone before hearing the same sound as before but clearer and more like scratching, he looks for the sound as soon it starts again though he doesn't look for long before he gets a face full of Toothless. Toothless hangs upside down over Hiccup's bed, facing him so his face isn't more than a couple of inches apart than processes to watch Hiccup back up into the back board of his bed and gripping his shirt almost like Toothless scared the life out of him.

"Dear Thor! Toothless!" Hiccup let's out a sigh after releasing his grip on his own shirt, "You almost scared me to death. What are you doing up there?" Toothless tilts his head, then climbs down and licks Hiccup's face once, then twice soon enough he is holding Hiccup down again and tickling him in a way. Clearly not listening to the rambling coming from the boy's mouth -suddenly stops- watching Hiccup with a stare and lifts off sitting on the end of the bed just letting that awkward stare and silence fill the room.

Toothless?" As soon as the words escape Hiccup's lips, Toothless suddenly shoves his face into Hiccup's lap (your dirty minds know where) earning a sudden jump and yelp from Hiccup in surprise. Toothless does not pull away though, the recent time -it was no longer innocent licking of affections- from the night before somehow seemed to arouse Hiccup that wasn't pushed aside and simply just marked as Hiccup's teen years and hormones. No. Toothless discovered something new; something Hiccup liked and that made him feel good. He wanted to see it again and was just simply checking to see if it happened again. Hiccup struggles against Toothless -knowing very well he could not throw off a dragon with his stature- and tries to get Toothless to stop before this makes a turn for the worst; remove his dragons face from his crotch before it starts to feel good; enough to make him feel good and it was wrong in many ways because the more Toothless nudged or moved his head lightly the worse it gets and the more he feels it. Curse these teen hormones, taking any shot at whatever grabs it first. Hiccup's fears start to kick in now; What was Toothless planning exactly? Sticking his face in such a place, was he aware of what he was causing by doing this and how far was he trying to go. Surely he doesn't know a lot about how humans hold each other so Hiccup gets a breath in relief but it doesn't solve his problem here. What would happen if the others saw this? What if his father saw? Stoic would be unhappy to see this, the first half-naked wrestling was bad but he wasn't angry about it. This was more than that, this is worse than imagined, not enough to make Stoic shame his own son about though it is as bad as it sounds. That is not the worse thing to come across one's mind...what if Gobber saw? He would not let Hiccup live this down and would try to explain how adults love each other again.

'Not Gobber, out of all the people in Berk to see me like this, not Gobber. Thor help me'_ Hiccup still in an awkward position with Toothless but the sudden knock on the door draws Toothless from his lap and he let's out a sigh in relief, '_Oh thank Thor_'. As soon as Toothless turns his head, Hiccup removes himself from the bed to stand.

"Son? Are you awake?" Stoic knocks once more before opening the door to see Hiccup already standing, "Oh good your up already. Everything alright Hiccup? your face is almost beat red, you aren't getting sick are you" Stoic approaches Hiccup to check his head and Hiccup just shakes his head lightly.

"I'm not getting sick, dad. Just woke up to something, on some level, awkward...very awkward" Hiccup pauses in disbelief then continues to grab his clothes, changing and prepares for the day.

"Oh okay, just making sure. I was never good with telling, it was always your mom that took care when you where sick" Stoic breathes in relief of him not coming down with something, making Hiccup turn slightly looking at him.

"You don't have to worry, dad"

"Good because the one time your mom told me to care for you she gave me something to check your temperature and I, for the love of Thor, Did not know how to use it. Seems it is to go in the mouth..."

"I'm heading over to the academy now!" Hiccup takes his cue to leave not wanting to hear anymore or where his dad thought that thermometer went.

"I accidentally put it in your-" Stoic doesn't finish his sentence when he turns to see Hiccup picked up his pace from walking to dashing down the stairs to get outside and Toothless following after him. Heading to the door, Hiccup swings it open only to run into Gobber with a rather large wheel barrel behind him.

"Good morning Hiccup, heading out?"

"Good morning, yeah the academy is waiting it's another day" Hiccup wasting no time and walks around Gobber with Toothless just jumping over him. Stoic quickly moving down the stairs before Hiccup disappears to the academy and greets Gobber as normally does.

"Hiccup wait, I forgot to tell you the reason I knocked on your door. Astrid stopped by early this morning seems she wanted to talk to you about something important"

"Did she say what about" Hiccup turns wondering what was so important so early in the morning and Stoic shakes his head.

"She wouldn't tell me. It is important and you better go see what she couldn't even tell me about"

"Ah Stoic, don't you see the signs? It is private meaning these two are getting serious. It's a teen thing." Gobber let's out a laugh before patting Hiccup, "Want me to explain?"

'_Ugh_' Hiccup let's in the word without a second thought catching that hint of a sigh in his voice before turning away from Gobbers hand and leaving out the door, hopping on Toothless, taking off to the academy. The dragon academy is visible from the sky the closer they get and Hiccup let's out a long sigh that makes Toothless glance up at him a little in question.

"It's nothing bud, just wondering what Astrid could want from me" Hiccup let's out another sigh making it obvious that something else is bothering him too, Toothless only watches him more; seeing his uneasiness, flying over the Academy instead of inside only making Hiccup look back.

"Bud, we past the academy" Hiccup watches before landing on a cliff off to the side away from the others inside the academy and Toothless sits looking at hiccup.

"Toothless, what's wrong. Don't you want to see the others? They are waiting for us"

Toothless gets up nudging his head on Hiccup, looking up at him and Hiccup looks back at him.

"Are you feeling alright Toothless-Woah" Hiccup, lifted up by Toothless using his head also his paws for leverage, holding Hiccup in a hug. His face turns pink and a little confused of what has gotten into Toothless. Hiccup cannot help but smile and hug Toothless back from the point they met he is glad Toothless has become so affectionate towards him. After Toothless puts him down Hiccup scratches underneath his head.

"Let's get to the academy, alright" Hiccup jumps on Toothless back and they fly inside the academy into what looks like chaos of everyone doing as they please. Hiccup rolls his eyes; searching for Astrid and what she wanted to talk to him about still on his mind, finding her off to the side with Stormfly. Hiccup leaves the side of Toothless, approaching Astrid and he watches them together in acknowledgment when they smile at each other; the way they look at each other as they talk. It raises questions and more feelings from the way Toothless starts to growl at this sight.

He doesn't like it; He doesn't like this, them together smiling like that.

'_Me_' The only thought to escape the running motions through Toothless, he only growls more the way Astrid punches Hiccup's shoulder from an unknown comment made. Toothless starts to make his way over to them, approaching without being quiet like when they are at home and passes around Astrid behind Hiccup.

"Oh hey Toothless" Astrid gives a light smile from the greeting only getting a snuff back from Toothless and a stare.

Hiccup directs his head back to Toothless behind him, "Toothless, it is just Astrid. You know her"

Toothless snuffs at her again before removing himself from behind Hiccup, sitting in the shade closer to the wall of the academy. Hiccup shakes his head a little worried about Toothless while Astrid shrugs it off looking back at him.

"He is moody. Did you feed him something bad?"

"He's been like this for a while, I am a little worried more for myself" The incidents between the two before starting flooding Hiccup's mind again, making him worry a bit more each time.

"Worried for yourself?" Astrid crosses her arms in suspicion,

"That's not important...your the only he did that too but earlier it was like he didn't want to come here, I'm worried he might become distant but not from me from everyone else" Hiccup's gaze doesn't once leave to look at Astrid, it remains on Toothless.

"Don't worry about it, Hiccup"

Hiccup sighs, "I hope this will just blow over instead of becoming problem"

Astrid takes a moment watch on Hiccup before turning towards Stormfly and climbing on, disappearing out of the academy. Hiccup walks over to Toothless, patting him lightly with eyes of worry still and the others approach them.

Tuffnut exclaims a bit loudly at Hiccup, "Hey, why did Astrid get to leave. When I'm sick I don't get to leave"

"Astrid has something to do with her family today" In Hiccup's voice there's a slight hint of relief, it was only family matter -the reason she wanted to talk to him- he is glad for some odd reason.

'_What was I expecting?_' Hiccup worries a little more but forcefully removes the thought, "It is important and you are not sick"

"What if I was, I am coughing, see" Tuffnut let's out a rather unbelievable cough, "See, I am sick" He does it a few more times while turned slightly towards Ruffnut and Hiccup rolls his eyes again.

Ruffnut grunts, "Ew, don't put your germs on me" She closes her hand in a fist and punches his stomach, watching him dub over and real coughing.

"Okay, now I'm in pain"

Snotlout moves from beside Tuffnut and stops his current laughing only to breathe and question Hiccup, "What are we even doing today"

"Well we can't really do anymore without Astrid here, so" Hiccup starts to walk from the shade over to the entrance and Toothless watches him staying in place, "We are going to work on our dragon calls and hand signals, since most of you keep giving the wrong hands gestures and sound like a flock of dying chickens"

Tuffnut snorts, "It was Ruffnut" From his side, Ruffnut punches his stomach once again.

"Well I don't need to since mine and Hookfang is already perfect. Right Hookfang" Snotlout looks up, giving a closed fist hand gesture as if to celebrate but Hookfang takes the gesture wrong and smacks his head into Snotlout, crushing him into the ground. They only hear the whimpered sounds of 'ouch' and the twins laugh in amusement.

"We are working on them. Toothless!" Hiccup calls out turning to him, using his hand gestures as if to call him over and no time wasted Toothless tackles Hiccup, nudging him with licks to his face like he is playing.

Hiccup laughs but quietly talks to him, "We have to take this serious, bud" Toothless nods, rubbing his head on him before helping him up. Hiccup watches the others already working with their dragon, as the day progresses they continue the trainings until the night comes and they leave the academy for home.

Hiccup sits on his bed going over the book of dragons, Toothless lays in his bed watching him; pretending to sleep but curiosity kicks in, eyeing him and what Hiccup was so interested in reading what he knows already. If it makes him happy than he can not complain. Hiccup sets down the book and lays back with a smile, a "good night" to Toothless slipping off into slumber.

Toothless wakes to half of the night gone already to -rather clear, I may add- noises, it sounds like whimpering mixed in quiet moans and Toothless does not know what those odd sounds are instead he searches for the noise. The noises where new to Toothless, unsure of what was causing it but where it coming from was a bit surprising; the muffled sounds where coming from the bed and if Toothless remembers the only one on there is Hiccup, it only intrigued him more to lift up and look. As Toothless thought, it was definitely Hiccup and from what he could see from his down view was Hiccup -with the blankets pushes down towards the end of the bed- working with his hands in a certain lower part of his body.

Hiccup forces his legs and knees up, hands not leaving his lower region and working it furiously. The quieter Hiccup tired, the more aroused it made him, his hands moving at a faster pace and his mouth opened in a silent scream. He strokes himself using both hands quickly picking up his pace and no longer being gentle on himself because these dirty but perfectly normal acts of curiosity and growing hormones are natural and unknown to Hiccup. He has yet to feel his first orgasm since he's been occupied with dragons and everything going on in Berk, he's never given himself real-time to explore -to be blunt- himself. His arousal is still new to him.

Hiccup's voice starts to slip a little louder almost losing himself to his rising sensation going up his body, it inches closer before Hiccup stops quickly from seeing Toothless and his head over the end of the bed with those eyes just watching him, intrigued. Hiccup backs into the head-board, closing his legs and staring embarrassed at toothless who still does not take his eyes from him.

"T-T-Toothless, hey bud. W-What are you doing awake" Hiccup asked as if he will get an answer from Toothless. He got caught this time. Unlike earlier when he bluntly just shoved his face into his crotch even Toothless wasn't sure what goes on with the human body but enough to know that humans react the same in heat. Toothless heard him and sat there for sometime watching him touch himself, embarrassed enough but it was better than his dad or anyone else catching him. Hiccup is alert when Toothless comes around to the side of the bed and sits there staring at him more, it was already awkward; he got caught by Toothless but it was more strange with Toothless just staring at him as if to say 'keep going'. Hiccup doesn't know how to respond. Should he keep going or pretend to sleep? The only problem is Toothless would know he isn't sleeping.

Toothless peers over to Hiccup nudging his head on him lightly, unsure of his intentions but he knows Hiccup felt good when he touched himself and it was like a relief to him but also because Toothless now knew that touching below made him feel good. Toothless set a goal from watching Hiccup from observing him, he set a goal to find out what Hiccup likes; like what he was seeing just a moment ago what makes him feel good that was part of Toothless planning, part of his goal.

Toothless turns his focus on Hiccup's closed legs.

Hiccup feels uneasy with Toothless looking at his closed legs and just pulls them closer to his chest, a little nervous from not knowing what Toothless was thinking or planning to do. Hiccup reaches for his blanket pulling it forward towards him then -covering up quickly- sigh in a bit of relief when Toothless does not make any sudden movements but it takes Hiccup a few minutes before he notices Toothless disappeared from his bed side and his eyes quickly searches for him. Hiccup looks up to where Toothless was oddly hanging from just this morning, no sign of Toothless there just odd scratches and he suddenly feels someone -actually something- under his blanket lifting it and trying to get access between his legs.

"T-Toothless! Stop!" Hiccup exclaims rather loudly as it's too late for his fears to kick in now, Toothless set his sights on something and he was going for it. Toothless easily over powers him by forcefully pushing his lower body down on the bed soon getting help from his paws to keep him in place and forces his legs apart. Hiccup tries to stop him again but his attempts remain useless still and he gasps when something cold slips around his -starting to rise again- arousal, his erection soon betraying him.

He shakes a little at this new sensation he was feeling and it was definitely different from his own hands earlier; this felt ten times better than earlier, the feeling of a tongue all over his erection it felt to him cold and fantastic. At the back of Hiccup's mind is screaming for this to stop that it isn't right but his body disagrees and he starts to push towards to feel more while gripping his blanket.

Hiccup muffles himself a little with a free hand trying not to be as loud as he already is and bucks more into Toothless, who doesn't stop for anything and working away with Hiccup's lower region. Toothless eventually starts to travel down a little finding new areas that earned more moans from Hiccup, the louder his moan was the more he was sensitive there and loved it. Good points for Toothless to know. Toothless travels back up to where he started and continues to lick, being careful with his teeth while nipping a bit at Hiccup.

Soon Hiccup is bucking more and a bit rapid but not too fast, riding out that pent up orgasm, he pushes towards Toothless before letting out a muffled scream through his hand. Hiccup's body shakes a little bit more this time. Toothless still licks up what he spills out then raises his head -letting the blanket slip off a little- and watches Hiccup catch his breath then drifting to sleep.

Toothless gives a light smile, pulling the blanket back into Hiccup then goes to his own bed to sleep.

The morning comes quickly and Hiccup is sitting up in his bed with his face in his hands, the event of last night flooded back quickly; a wave of guilt he is feeling from such an inappropriate act, not because he was turned on by it so much more but because it was with a dragon. HIS dragon. It made it so much worse and it's going to be difficult for him to play it off without becoming embarrassed and guilty every time he remembers it. Hiccup shakes it off, grabbing his pants and while getting them on, looks towards Toothless as he gets up who is looking back at him. Hiccup turns away a little embarrassed with a sigh but shakes it off and pats Toothless.

This was awkward to a whole new level for them. Like your first time with someone except that someone is a dragon and knew -fully well for a dragon- what he was doing. Oh Thor. What is a boy to do now? Right now he couldn't look at Toothless properly but he didn't want Toothless to think he did something wrong. That was debatable. Hiccup turns towards his door, opening and walking into a over-size crate which was clearly blocking any access to his door. Hiccup slips around it while Toothless jumps over it and down the stairs is chatter about who knows what.

"Do I even want to know" Hiccup glances -finally at the bottom of the stairs- at Stoic and Gobber standing at tough looking armor being held up by a rusty stand as sad as it looks, the rusty stand looking tougher than the armor itself. They discuss what it could even be possibly used for before they notice Hiccup and Toothless.

"Oh, Good morning son"

"Morning, what's with the armor?"

"It's legendary armor, the masters at fighting skills before us Vikings. The brave knights supposedly pass this armor down and got a trade on it from trader Johann." Gobber says with a proud statement which is probably not even half of it true.

"It's legendary?"

"It should be" Gobber scratches his head with his one hand and Hiccup wonders how Gobber has made it this far.

"What about the crate blocking my door?" Hiccup turns to throw Toothless his favorite morning food and walking over to the table for his own. Stoic is admiring the armor still but answers,

"The space has a limit here. Ran out of room in the storage" Stoic turns and points towards the storage barely even closed and stuff falling out. Hiccup sits down, ready to eat his food and Gobber drops a box in front of him and the annoyed sigh is let out.

"Since you're not in a hurry today, why don't we discuss your living arrangements and this glory armor in your room" Gobber says before seeing him no longer sitting there and leaving out the door.

"I'm going to pass" Hiccup sits outside on the steps to adjust his foot, trying to pull tighter with a small tool but unable to get it how he wants and Toothless moves his hand, using his teeth to tighten it easily. Hiccup forces a glance at Toothless and a smile.

Toothless can't deny what he feels now, he learned from watching him about feelings. Most of that came with knowledge of what Hiccup liked already; being with his friends, laughing with them and being around them. He always read the book of dragons, his fascination with it that he loved; be able to teach what he knows about it to his friends and making everyone's life easier and better. He likes to help people and takes less time worrying about himself. To be noticed; He spent time trying to become one of the vikings and to fit in with the others but being different was something Berk needed. He loved Astrid. That's for sure, his crush still stays strong for her and her the same to him but the sound of that makes Toothless unhappy.

'_Desperate_' Toothless doesn't break his eye contact with Hiccup and still watching his smile when his thoughts continue, '_clumsy, cowardice, ticklish, easily embarrassed, weak, quiet, strong hearted, determined, friendly, smart, affectionate, adorable, lovable_' These words aren't strangers to Toothless because he is a dragon and it doesn't mean he is clueless like other dragons. He was smart and listened to Hiccups actions and words over the time he knew Hiccup and these where the things he loved.

So what was this planning for? He knew what he wanted about Hiccup already, this was a matter of more than just a dragon and his rider or being buds. This was something else.

It wasn't right being attracted to a human but it was beyond that point. Toothless was already hit with love, it is too late to go back. Hiccup never treated him like a pet or his way to get around places and to help, he gave Toothless love and it already consumed him. The realization is now in place.

This planning was for Hiccup's love and to push it to the limit. Toothless knows his attraction to Hiccup is love but for the moment the question is if Hiccup could love him back in the same way he does to him or to Astrid. It is clear that Astrid has more to offer Hiccup since she is a female and human; she could bare him a child, a family and more love than anyone else could when they grow older together. That isn't enough to stop Toothless though. Astrid has the upper hand but Toothless could never imagine being without Hiccup after what they went through to get where they are.

Hiccup never goes anywhere without him or make decisions without his growl of approval or not, he is around him more than his friends or Astrid and worries in a second if something is wrong with Toothless over anything else. He saved his life from certain death and that easily over-writes what upper hand Astrid may have.

If this meant battle against Astrid for Hiccup then so be it. Toothless isn't going to back off for the sake of what's best for Hiccup. He wants Hiccup for himself.

Finally braking the silent stare, Toothless pushes his head on Hiccup's and sits with him. Hiccup leans on Toothless, mumbling stuff about how he knows when he goes to the room later that armor will be cutting off half of his room before they notice Astrid land with Stormfly and approach them.

"Hey, you two. Planning on going for a fly today?" Astrid looks pretty as usual as she greets them and Hiccup smiles with a greeting back. Toothless watches her without a smile. Watches how close she gets to him and he starts to glare, slipping between them pushing Astrid back. They both look at Toothless but his focus is on Astrid, keeping his head low but watching her almost intense.

"Toothless, are you okay?" Hiccup looks worried a little but pats Toothless and shrugs it off when he moves from between them.

"Is Toothless still feeling odd?" Astrid noticed Toothless sudden caution around her and when she gets too close to Hiccup.

Hiccup wonders himself but nods, "He's still acting a bit funny but it's just Toothless"

It earns a smile from Astrid and a light punch to his arm. Hiccup goes to comment again but he gets pulled by his shirt from the back and flipped on Toothless. His metal foot already connecting to the tail of Toothless and they take off in a sudden. Astrid calls out to them but it does no good and she crosses her arms with a slight glare. Hiccup pulls back on Toothless, landing on a nearby hill and he jumps off to face him. Hiccup looks confused and angry at this sudden attitude towards Astrid but Toothless already set his sights on what he will fight for.

"Toothless, what's has gotten into you. Why have you become so hostile around Astrid, you know her. She hasn't changed." Hiccup watches Toothless turn away with a sound of a grunt towards him and a low growl at the sound of her name. Hiccup tires to reason with Toothless but just gets another grunt.

"Toothless, enough of this attitude. You where friendly before, why the sudden change?" Hiccup says as Toothless turns his head, not listening and turns around, his back to Hiccup, "Hey! Don't you turn your back to me when I'm talking to you, mister" Toothless gets up and flies back down to the house, leaving Hiccup on the hill.

Hiccup finally reaches the house looking unhappy and Toothless runs upstairs, "Toothless!" Hiccup gives an angry sigh and Stoic looks from sitting at the table.

"Everything alright, Hiccup? Is there a problem?"

"Yes and it's called Toothless. I don't understand what's gotten into him, lately he doesn't want to go near the academy and is cautious around Astrid. It's bothering me that I do not know what's wrong."

"It is probably a phase, Hiccup. It's not a big deal if a dragon gets too attached to its rider, it will pass over and like nothing happened." Stoic gets up from the chair and goes over to pat Hiccup.

"Yeah, I hope your right. Good night, dad" Hiccup travels up to his room, wanting to go to bed and to deal with Toothless the next day.

>Bright and early the next morning, Hiccup pulls on his clothes and turns to see that useless armor standing in the corner of the room. Hiccup rolls his eyes before thinking, 'of course they just put it in here' and makes his way outside to Toothless -who is already waiting- and they take off to the academy. They arrive and waste no time, getting to the point of what they are working on today. Throughout the day Toothless stays close to Hiccup as much as possible. Following where ever he goes and growls lightly the closer others got to him, Astrid was no exception and Toothless shoved her out-of-the-way or got Hiccup's attention away when she got close. Toothless pulls Hiccup away every chance he got and the end of the day, Toothless pulls Hiccup on his back and takes off first with Hiccup instead of being the last to leave like usual. Astrid watches and crosses her arms once again.

Close to-night fall, Astrid stops by the house and knocks on the door with Hiccup answering it. She looks only seeing Stoic at the table and no sight of Toothless.

"Hey Hiccup, can I speak to you. About you-know-who"

"Sure" Hiccup shuts the door behind him and listens to Astrid; she speaks looking concerned but also a hint of anger in her tone.

"I'm concerned about Toothless but you mostly. There has to be something wrong. He's become distant and is clearly holding hate against me, not to mention you are aware of his sudden protection over you. Right?"

"I know he has become a little hot-headed but it will pass. I hope. My dad says it's just a case of him being too attached and it will blow over but it will need a few days." Hiccup says though not very positive his dad is right or that is the cause of his behavior.

"I hope so because I'm worried."

Toothless peers from the side window at them with a low growl but moves away back upstairs when Astrid leaves and Hiccup walks back inside. Hiccup makes his way upstairs and into his room, looking towards Toothless. Toothless sits by Hiccup's bed and let's out a yawn when Hiccup walks over.

"Toothless, I'm worried about you but first this dragon attitude needs to stop." Hiccup rubs under Toothless jaw and watches him enjoy the scratches for the moment. Toothless stops after that time passes and looks to Hiccup again.

"Let me help you, bud. Whatever is troubling you" Hiccup smiles and Toothless knows he means good but this isn't an exactly a problem for him to help with. Toothless is going to fight for this, pushing aside everything else and he doesn't plan to fail.

Toothless licks Hiccup's lips this time. Not just a quick over the mouth but a full on slow lick. Since Toothless cannot kiss like a normal person, he uses licking Hiccup's lips as if he was full on lip lock with the boy. Aside from those playful licks on the side of the face, those where just friendly licks of affection. This could be seen as kissing the boy.

Hiccup stares dumbfounded of what Toothless just did. Toothless lays down in his bed when realization soon smacks Hiccup in the face that his dragon kissed him, it wasn't like if a person kissed him but a lick to the lips is close enough. Hiccup gives up on trying to understand how to react to anything anymore from the awkward watching, the pants stealing and the recent pleasure experience. Hiccup gives up and drops face first on his bed. This wasn't natural. None of this was but no one was judging, maybe Thor but this is out of Hiccup's control and not sure why this is happening.

Hiccup keeps a mental note: To see how far Toothless will take this.

>Thank you for reading my darlings,

I chose not to go through how Toothless learned Hiccup's traits, would have made it so much longer and a pain for me so kept it as it is. Give me your thoughts and love but keep it clean. Please review!

3. GATHERING INFORMATION

Disclaimer: Greetings friends! I apologize for this chapter being so late, honestly I was stuck on what to write next and life started getting hectic but I digress. This chapter will be to your imagination so I will not mention what this chapter holds except I felt this particular chapter is more about how Hiccup is dealing with Toothless sudden infatuation rather than Toothless studying.

Enjoy my Darlings.

KILLMARA~

GATHERING INFORMATION **

The sun shines bright through the clouds on such a glorious morning, brightening up the beautiful blue sky that sits over Berk. Seen through the clouds and darting across the sky, Toothless picks up speed flying swiftly around, under and over any patches of land and stone while increasing his flight as he goes and carrying his rider upon his back. Hiccup, holding on tight while steering Toothless in a race to approve his time, stares aimlessly ahead of him and losing himself in thought.

_What has been happening with Toothless lately? _

The question itself is like a broken record inside Hiccup's head, this sudden infatuation with him became more awkward. Yes, he has noticed over the days on Toothless odd behavior around him seemed more recent incidents involving Hiccup's pants to the kisses becoming longer leading to Toothless on top of him. Yeah, it was not a big deal before when they goofed around and wrestle each other, well at least tried too. It was just friendly banter. Nothing else but this is something more, something Hiccup has never seen before in Toothless. Not to forget that night that still haunts Hiccup to this day. Toothless, how to say it, "licked" him "Down there". Yes it was wrong, awkward, frightening in so many ways but it felt good.

That was the scary part. It felt good. That is something Hiccup cannot wrap his mind around, the fact his first time had gone to the last person he wouldn't have even thought of and it was Toothless. He and Astrid have been getting closer as well from what he could get his mind around, they even kissed many times and it would have been natural if his first time was with her.

So why did it have to be Toothless?

Hiccup, no longer guiding Toothless and still staring blankly ahead while pondering the same questions over. Toothless looks up curiously at Hiccup to wonder where his riders mind had gone but even for Hiccup, who is a natural wanderer, his mind being somewhere else is no surprise. Toothless glances back suddenly noticing the incoming roof of one of the houses on Berk, trying to slow himself from colliding and getting Hiccup's attention once again, snapping him back to reality. Hiccup pulls up on Toothless just missing the roof but meeting the side of his own home behind it and rolling inside it. Hiccup shakes his head and getting up only to meet Toothless tail to smack him back down.

"Ow. Alright alright, I deserve it for not paying attention. I'm sorry" Hiccup rubs the back of his head and getting up off the snubs him once, making Hiccup look back at him,

"What are you getting all angry for. You weren't paying attention either, your just as bad as me!" Hiccup grabs Toothless tail and attempts to wrestle it and only gets another snub response from Toothless.

"Oh you big baby, I was kidding." Hiccup still has his hold on the tail, Toothless lifts him up off the floor. Toothless stares at Hiccup's smiling face before giving his famous Toothless smile back at him and another lick, more as a kiss to Hiccup.

So why did it have to be Toothless?

The question soon appears again in Hiccup's mind still looking for an answer. The tension starts to become high when the sound of Stoic's voice echos throughout the house with a shake.

"HICCUP!"

Hiccup look at Toothless and quickly exits before Stoic appears to scowl him about the new hole addition to the house. Hiccup lands with Toothless at the academy where his friends chatter about more nonsense and Astrid approaches him from behind.

"Hey Hiccup"

"Oh, Hi Astrid. Your looking the same today"

"Is that a good thing or a bad thing" Astrid says with a look that there is no good answer.

"Well it depends to which answer will get me less hurt" Both Hiccup and Astrid let out a small laugh making Toothless move a little between them

"Your early today Hiccup. It's a first"

"Well you know the same, hiding from my dad"

"What did you do now" Astrid turns following where Hiccup is moving too.

"I, sort of, added a new addition to the house. A hole in the wall" Hiccup goes through a bag searching for a ball that he pulls out from it. Toothless suddenly alerted from what Hiccup is now holding and starts getting excited while hopping around.

"What is the ball for?"

"I'm trying to get Toothless to improve on his searching ability but he just thinks I'm playing fetch with him" Hiccup turns to Toothless and waves the ball around in his hand.

Toothless eyes the ball, getting lower to the ground and letting his behind stick up like a dog waiting to play. Hiccup pretends to throw the ball and laughs a little when Toothless goes to chase after but stopping when the ball isn't seen. Toothless runs back to him and repeats the same position in waiting for the ball to be thrown. Hiccup finally throws, releasing the ball and letting it fly while Toothless races after it then picking it up with mouth then quickly going back to Hiccup.

"Drop it Toothless. Toothless, I said drop it. If you want me to throw it again then I need the ball"

Hiccup holding out his hand but Toothless still holds the ball in his mouth making Hiccup tap his fingers and sighs. Hiccup, giving up on trying to retrieve the ball, going over to the bag of stuff for the dragons and Astrid is once again behind him.

"Hiccup, are you okay? You look tired or something is bothering you" Astrid questions out of concern which makes Hiccup hesitant a little. How could he tell her what's been going on or what has happened with Toothless. How could he tell anyone? It's truly enough to disturb anyone because of the clear signs of it is much deeper than just a boy and his dragon.

"If he's sick, don't come near me! I'm too perfect to be sick" Snotlout snorts out only to be back-handed by Astrid near by.

"Hiccup, if something is wrong you can tell me."

"I'm fine Astrid and I'm not getting sick. I'm just a little tired." Hiccup turns back to face them and as Astrid is about to speak the others begin to leave at the sound of a bell from home. Astrid looks, getting on her Natter and requesting Hiccup get some rest before taking off. Hiccup nods before looking at Toothless.

"Guess I should take her advice" Hiccup pets him and Toothless finally let's go of the ball, spitting it letting it bounce off Hiccup's forehead. Hiccup glares and Toothless sweeps him under flying them back home as nightfall quickly approaches. Entering the house, Hiccup attempts to avoid his father by running up the stairs to his room, getting in there safely with a sigh. Hiccup readies himself for bed and laying down, forgetting about Toothless momentarily until his eyes snap open after Toothless head appearing under the blanket looking at him.

"Toothless, No. Go lay down." Hiccup commands but Toothless ignores taking the blanket up when he sits up with it still on his head. Toothless looks at Hiccup and starts to sniff his shirt getting small ticklish laughs from him when he starts to push his shirt up, sniffing under as well. Toothless keeps sniffing, recognizing what happened last time where Hiccup seem to get aroused and proceeds sniffing down to his pants. Hiccup automatically becomes alert and slides away from the headboard.

"Toothless. No." Hiccup slides and falls off the bed on to the floor, looking up at Toothless only getting a curious reaction back. Toothless starts to crawl down from the bed and going over Hiccup who stares at him before realizing that he is being held down against the floor. Hiccup has no words nor nothing he can do just the realization and thoughts forming in his head. Toothless was on top of him at this point and Thor knows he cannot fight this dragon off of him.

...What is he going to do?

The question starts to frightening Hiccup. As if it was their first meeting all over again but this was different. Toothless wasn't threatening him, he wasn't sure what Toothless was doing or what was going on. As hard as it is to admit, that night Toothless did what he did to Hiccup with his first time wasn't all bad. In a way he liked it even with as wrong as it sounded. In this moment of his dragon over him, he is afraid of what might happen now. Hiccup wasn't always clueless. He knew as they grew closer that Toothless's affection would get stronger but not like this. Was this still Toothless? The same dragon he's been through a lot with already? Or someone unknown.

He wasn't sure why this was happening though and it still frightened him.

"T-Toothless?" Hiccup manages out a name after being stuck for a few minutes and Toothless still glazing at his face. Seeing the hesitant look in Hiccup's face, Toothless moves his closer making Hiccup close his eyes shut and turn his face away a little earning a little pause before lightly licking Hiccup's lips only. Hiccup opens his eyes a little looking at Toothless as if to ask why he did that. Toothless only continues to lick Hiccup's lips. Yes, it is weird to kiss a dragon since their mouths do not match that of a humans but Hiccup doesn't fight him off or try to make him stop. It is different from when Toothless licks his face all over, this one almost seems passionate. Hiccup is a little bothered by why he isn't making Toothless stop but he's never seen this of Toothless before.

...Is he?...no..can't be...

As soon as the thought appears the kisses stop and Toothless releases Hiccup, going to his own bed and laying down. Hiccup, being held up by elbows, looking at the backside of Toothless just stunned and lost for words. He uses the back of his hand to wipe his wet lips and gets back on his bed, laying down but with what just happened racing though his head. It can basically be labeled as a half kissing session with a dragon.

Yes, this was definitely Toothless trying to make out with him.

As strange as it is even for Hiccup who is now understanding what just happened even with what happened before. All those awkward moments and Toothless acting odd. Finally putting pieces together, how he didn't notice the pieces before in the beginning and thinking this was just a phase of Toothless. If he thought he was at lost before, it's more than ever now

His dragon is in love with him.

And it took him till now to realize it.

Hiccup hides his red face in his hands trying to shake the thought but it remains even as he drifts off to sleep. As the morning light shines on his face, Hiccup opens his eyes to a dragon in his face.

"Yes good morning, Toothless"

Toothless smiles with no teeth and jumps around before going down the stairs. Hiccup sits up and stretches while getting changed and taking a minute to sigh at what occurred last night. Shaking his head to force off the redness rushing to his face again, he stands up and heads after Toothless.

What am I going to do with you, Toothless...

Hiccup reaches the bottom of the stairs, seeing Stoic already up and Hiccup quietly makes his way towards the door.

"Not so fast, Hiccup. Care to explain the giant hole in the wall?"

"Viking Trend?" Hiccup attempts at humor but only gets a scowl from Stoic "I'll fix it after breakfast"

"You better. Astrid was asking for you"

"What for?" Hiccup feels a little pit in his stomach turn, hearing the door open and Astrid walking in. Toothless moves around Hiccup just behind him and Astrid looks at them both.

"We need to have a talk. About your relationship." Astrid stares at them as Hiccup starts becomes hesitant again.

4. THE INTERRUPTION Part 1

Hey everyone, as you know already this is my disclaimer of how I do not own HTTYD but if I did I think I'd be the happiest person in the world. Who else agrees? Anyways apologies for this chapter taking me just as long because I was not as positive I was going to sneak this chapter in but here it is and enjoy!

KILLMARA~

THE INTERRUPTION.

>"We need to talk about your relationship"

Hiccup stands completely frozen, hands sweating and his voice caught in his throat. What was he going to tell Astrid and how did she even find out? Okay, you could say that Toothless being a little too affectionate was odd but it wasn't anything someone would misinterpret as a relationship. He had to say something because Astrid was staring at him with this intense look but no words would form when Hiccup opened his mouth. Hands still sweating as Hiccup wipes them against his side and finally finds his voice with a hint of cracking and hesitation.

"What are you talking about?"

"Hiccup, you know what I am talking about. What is going on between you and Toothless? No normal person would ever have this kind of relationship with a dragon" Astrid follows Hiccup as he turns towards Toothless and the handy escape route which he would need and possibly very soon called the door.

"There is nothing strange between me and Toothless. It's the same as it always has been..." Hiccup looks at Toothless and pats his head, letting a small smile creep on his face.

"This isn't the same anymore, Hiccup. This affection is not normal, a dragon shouldn't kiss you like that and take off your pants"

"Wait, how do you know about that" Hiccup turns his attention back on Astrid, feeling that pit in his stomach grow again.

"I am worried so I asked your dad"

"You did what"

"I am worried, Hiccup! This needs to stop, whatever is going on between you and Toothless, it needs to stop now. You are a person and he's a dragon, it's wrong in every way and there is no future between you and him"

Hiccup takes a moment to look at Astrid with a glare and turns to the door leaving with Toothless, going out for one last fly around Berk before the sun sets and night falls.

Hiccup lays awake, staring at his ceiling for hours. The only thing running across his mind was how Astrid could be so nosy in something that doesn't concern her, if Hiccup thought it was so wrong he would have stopped it as soon as he noticed Toothless's oddly different love towards himself. The part of it that is odd is he didn't stop it or wasn't sure that he wanted it to stop. It wasn't Astrid's problem to begin with, she was only caring for a friend but the decision wasn't hers to make, it was Hiccup's.

Hiccup still lays, lost in thought. Trying not to remember those incidents with Toothless he was not expecting to happen, he remembers the time Toothless caught him exploring himself. Suddenly remembering this certain memory causing a stir in Hiccup's pants and not knowing why for sure but something about it was making Hiccup hot. Hiccup's pants starts feeling tighter as Hiccup reaches down and pulls on the tight fabric, lightly feeling the brush of his hand against something starting to harden more, his hand starts to rub before setting down over the bulge, giving a light squeeze.

Hiccup quietly muffles a moan, surely surprising himself that a little squeeze could make him feel that good. Getting lost in himself this time, Hiccup looks up at the end of his bed to see Toothless watching and quickly sits up then let's out a sigh.

"Toothless, don't scare me like that"

Hiccup watches as Toothless pulls off the blanket and proceeds to climb over the end part of the bed, nudging at Hiccup's pants. Hiccup watches Toothless not sure if he should stop him or let him keep going but the thought was cut short when Toothless starts using his mouth to pull down his pants. Hiccup hisses at the cold air when his erection is freed and the sight of himself hard makes his face hot and he blushes with embarrassment. Toothless is looking at him before focusing back on Hiccup's lower area. Toothless licks Hiccup around his hips and inner thighs then starts to lick his erection making Hiccup flinch. Toothless continues licking more, wanting to avoid any possible way of hurting him, in attempt to suck him (if possible) but feeling satisfactory by seeing Hiccup arching his back in pleasure almost pushing against him just by licking him.

Hiccup, throwing his head back against the pillow, starts moaning more and closing his eyes. The sudden increase of pleasure than what Hiccup was feeling before has his head spinning. It was more intense than it was the first time Toothless tried this and Hiccup trying to stop him, it just felt too good to stop this time and Hiccup didn't want it too. Hiccup's eyes snap open when he suddenly feels the claws and arms of Toothless flipping him over on his hands and knees. Hiccup looks back at Toothless, wondering what Toothless could be doing or planning to do with him like this.

Hiccup felt a little scared but at the same time excited.

'What is he planning to do?..'

Hiccup pauses for a moment, feeling a little more nervous of what Toothless had in mind but it all stopped when he starts feeling the cold, wetness of Toothless's tongue against his rear and all over.

This was surely...different

Hiccup looks back at Toothless to object to what he was doing but is forced down from his back to stay down close to the bed. Hiccup, feeling more nervous now, gasps loudly feeling Toothless spreading his rear to get to the small pink entrance. Hiccup starts squirming from the feeling of Toothless licking at the small entrance and couldn't tell if it felt good or bad. This was still new to Hiccup. Yes, he got past the first grope of himself but this wasn't something he had yet to discover or if it is something to discover about himself. Still squirming under Toothless and starting to moan, he wasn't sure how far Toothless was going to go. Hiccup, not knowing what would be next, stops squirming now and letting himself go as Toothless keeps licking him. Hiccup starts getting desperate, reaching below him and rubbing himself to Toothless's licking. Trying to keep quiet, Hiccup uses his free hand to cover his mouth from the escaping moans and grabbing the pillow in a grip when feeling himself close to release. It only takes a moment longer before Toothless stops licking and watches Hiccup make a mess on his bed, on his hand and letting out a last loud moan into his pillow this time.

Hiccup lays breathing heavy and opens eyes to feel Toothless licking his face. He smiles, letting him do as he please but exhaustion soon takes over Hiccup and he drifts off to sleep.

The morning light shines bright through the window on Hiccup, sitting up in bed but a face of pure exhaustion. Hiccup yawns loudly then suddenly startled hearing the sounds of footsteps to his room, which he was really hoping is not one of his dad's early morning rants.

"Hiccup? Are you awake?" a female voice coming closer to the door, one that is clearly of Astrid.

What did she want so early in the morning?

Hiccup just realizing he is bottomless or also known as naked from the waist down, scrambles for his pants. Trying to pull his bottoms on, Hiccup slides off edge of his bed and on the floor just as Astrid opens the door.

"Hiccup? Why are you on the floor"

"I..fell. You know, tossing and turning too much" Hiccup speaks with a little cracking in his voice and stands back up as Toothless looks from his bed.

"Sorry if I woke you, Hiccup. I wanted to apologize for yesterday, I stepped out of line" Astrid approaches Hiccup and hugs him before glancing over to Toothless then letting Hiccup go. Hiccup looks a little confused but cracks a small smile at Astrid.

"It's alright Astrid"

"I was hoping that I could make it up to you. How about we spend a whole day together. Just us, no dragons" Astrid smiles while Hiccup frowns a little

"Will it be alright? I mean without dragons"

"It's only one day, Hiccup. They could use the space, trust me" Astrid smiles again and this time getting a smile back from Hiccup. Hiccup turns to Toothless, giving him a pat on his head before Astrid pulls him away.

"He will be fine alone, Hiccup" Astrid walks with Hiccup to the door giving Toothless, a rather long glance, before leaving with Hiccup.

The day passes on Berk fast and Hiccup, still with Astrid, walking up to the house where Toothless lays upon the roof of the house with a glare fixated on Astrid. They both smile at each other before Astrid turns, leaving to her own home and Hiccup walks inside his own. Hiccup walks into his room only to get jumped by Toothless.

"Oh hey bud, did you miss me?" Hiccup gives a friendly smile and Toothless starts licking Hiccup all over his face then his mouth. Hiccup puts his hand to Toothless pushing him back a little "Not now, Toothless" He looks confused at Hiccup before doing it again and Hiccup stops him, a little annoyed at his lack of listening.

"I said no! Toothless." He backs off this time looking at Hiccup of why the sudden change in mood. Hiccup sighs and tries to approach Toothless but he quickly darts for the window, and disappears outside.

"Toothless!" Hiccup races to the window looking for Toothless, getting worried for a moment until he hears the unhappy groans from the roof and looking up to see Toothless's tail.

"Toothless, come down from there. I'm sorry, I didn't mean to yell. Toothless?" Hiccup calls again only to get another unhappy groan and Hiccup just sighs. Hiccup gets ready for bed and lays down closing his eyes to sleep.

Hiccup wakes in the morning and looks to Toothless's bed, seeing it empty and let's out another sigh.

"Toothless?" Hiccup peers out the window looking for Toothless and seeing him still on the roof. Hiccup leaves momentarily and returns holding fish.

"Toothless, if you come down I have breakfast" Hiccup still leaning out the window watching Toothless glance. Hiccup dangles the fish out the window and Toothless watches it closely.

"Come on, Toothless. Come get the fish" Toothless soon after comes flying in the window, taking down Hiccup and eating the fish. Hiccup smiles and Toothless licks him after, over and over again.

"Okay, a fish kiss but," Hiccup kisses Toothless this time only to get a happy look from him and he topples Hiccup over on his back, giving him many kisses. Their only interruption from their awkward kissing and laughing is the sound of one cough to get their attention.

"Son, sorry to disturb you from, well whatever you are doing in here but I just wanted to have a chat with you" Stoic makes his way in the room and Hiccup stands back up, sitting on his bed.

"Sure, dad. What about"

"Well some of the others around Berk told me they saw you with Astrid the other day, just the two of you. I think this is becoming serious, Son"

"Oh Thor, you aren't giving me 'the talk' again are you because I'm already scarred enough from the first time by Gobbers explanation." Hiccup shudders at the memory and looks when Toothless puts his head on him.

"No not that. I mean one day you and Astrid might marry and you have to be ready for it"

"Dad, we walked together just for one day"

"Yes and it's important you know what marriage brings"

"Okay no, where not going there yet" Hiccup gets up quickly going downstairs with Toothless following close behind him.

"Hiccup, you need to know these important facts" Stoic follows after them till they reach the bottom where Gobber sits at the table.

"Ah, good morning Hiccup! What going on? Are we having the talk again?"

"No where not, Gobber!" Hiccup quickly exits the house and sighs on the other side of the door. Toothless looks at Hiccup and he smiles scratching underneath his chin, getting a smile back from Toothless. The sound of the nadder draws close and lands with Astrid on its back.

"Ready to go Hiccup?"

"Yeah. Where are the others" Hiccup climbs on Toothless and pats his head when he growls at Astrid.

"Already waiting for us. They might cause trouble if we keep them waiting." Astrid waits until Hiccup takes off first and she flies after him.

5. THE INTERRUPTION Part 2

Hey everyone! As you know this is my disclaimer and I do not own HTTYD. I apologize for this chapter being really late since I have been too busy to write it but I'm glad I got around to it.

So sit back and enjoy!

>THE INTERRUPTION PART 2

Hiccup sits outside of his home with drawings filling his notebook of new ideas for the academy. A drop of snow on the corner of his notebook makes a small damp dot as he looks up at the sky and the cold breeze lifting the pages of his book, making him shiver slightly at the coldness filling the air. The tool for making his ideas come freely on paper along with the knowledge he's learned over the years, rolls from his book on the ground and rolling down the steps.

Hiccup closes his book to retrieve it only to see someone pick it up before it gets even further. Astrid stands a few feet away and holding what had dropped, giving him a slight smile before shortening the small distance between them.

"Hi, Hiccup" Astrid approaches, handing to Hiccup what had rolled away from him.

"Hello, Astrid. Thanks for getting that" Hiccup greets her with a smile and earning one back from her

"Toothless, isn't around I'm guessing"

"He's probably inside. It's getting colder out here every day, going to be hard to train anymore at the academy soon and I had so many new ideas" Hiccup looks at the book that is resting on his lap with a disappointment, opening it slightly when Astrid gently closes it with her hand.

"Hiccup, I wanted to apologize again, if I haven't already about before. I must have imagined that you and Toothless were really close like that" Hiccups watches as Astrid takes a seat beside him

"It's okay, Astrid. You don't need to apologize again"

"Yes, I do. I feel bad for everything I have said or have overreacted. I didn't tell anyone. I know you two are special to each other, but not in that way. I guess I was just jealous of how close you two are together." Astrid lets out a small laugh and Hiccup smiles before looking away though it fades fast.

"How about we go get some training done before the snow sets. With the wind changing, it might be hard for the dragons and you know the twins are already complicated flyers" Astrid and Hiccup share a laugh together as Astrid takes Hiccup's hand, placing a small kiss on his lips. Astrid proceeds to get up before looking back at Hiccup and motioning him to hurry up. Hiccup smiles, placing his book to a safe place and going after Astrid.

Astrid allows Hiccup to move ahead of her just stopping after a few feet and looking towards the roof of Hiccup's home. Toothless hides, staring down at her and she stares back without a smile before turning away after Hiccup.

Toothless lets out a low growl and quickly disappears off the roof.

Hiccup and Astrid walk through the village together, coming to a stop when Snotlout storms out from his home.

"It's already freezing out here! It's like someone took giant rotating blades and smashed up the ice, then throwing it into it and-"

"I'm going to stop you there, Snotlout. That is ridiculous and not even remotely possible" Astrid steps forward a bit with a look of annoyance

"I beg to differ and you know you're still beautiful when you're being smart" Snotlout brings in the distance between him and Astrid only to be pushed away from her hand to his face.

"Ewe" Astrid's attention, along with everyone else's, looks toward Fishlegs just carefully walking by carrying something

"Fishlegs? Where are you going with a fish?"

"Oh, hi, Hiccup and everyone else. This is just for Meatlug. She doesn't like cold weather so much I'm going to feed her where she is comfortable."

"We were about to go train before the snow comes. Will she be okay to train?"

"Well, I don't really know if she will want to come out. The winter cold is starting to get to her and I guess me too" Fishlegs looks with a bit worried and Snotlout retorts at Fishlegs

"Don't be a wuss, Fishlegs! The cold is embracing and makes you feel like a man!" Snotlout stands broad, chest out, acting tough while taking a deep breath in of cold air.

"That is coming from the guy that was just complaining about how cold it was out here" Astrid shakes her head and Snotlout lowers his chest again almost slouching

"He can at least come to observe and take notes"

"I guess me and Meatlug could do that" Fishlegs looks with a bit of doubt.

They ponder possible ideas before becoming alert at the twins racing down the village towards them, pushing each other in attempt to who will tell them something interesting and new.

"I want to tell them! It's my turn!" Tuffnut pushes Ruffnut to stand before everyone else, unable to speak a sentence before Ruffnut smacks him out of the way.

"You always tell them things the wrong way. You make it boring" Ruffnut snickers back and gets bumped out of the way again. They continue to push and shove each other before Astrid steps out, separating them.

"Will you two stop it and just tell us what's so important"

" Oh, right. There's this place in the forest, like a big wooden stick you find on the ground"

"A big wooden stick?" Astrid looks at Hiccup, almost rolling her eyes at the twins

"It's a tree, you idiot" Ruffnut elbows her twin pushing him a little to the side

"What about the tree"

"It's a cool looking tree we found while riding back. It's old and creepy looking, like a witch cursed it"

"Cursed!?" Fishlegs jumps at the thought and shakes in fear

"Fishlegs. Nothing is cursed. You two raced all the way here to tell us about a tree?"

"Trust us. It's cooler than it sounds! We should go check it out now"

"We were about to go train with our dragons, but I guess we can do it out in the forest too" Hiccup takes a step forward towards Astrid when Toothless darts, landing in between them separating them more.

"Toothless, there you are. I was getting worried, bud" Hiccup goes to pet him, but Toothless move around him, staying behind and staring at Astrid. Astrid glances before turning more towards the others.

"Now that Toothless is here, let's get our dragons and go train before it gets too dark" Astrid walks away and Hiccup climbs up on Toothless, giving him a pat and flies off to wait for the others.

They head off to the forest and land in an open area where the twins quickly dismount, searching for the tree. They move through the bushes eagerly, but start yelling at each other for losing the tree with the others following them. Eventually they find the massive, dark and open tree that sits lonely with nothing but bushes around it and hardly any leaves hanging off.

"So, this was the big deal?" Astrid shakes her head while the twins look excited at it, Hiccup just looking, Snotlout not caring and Fishlegs looking carefully.

"Hey, it's an awesome tree and creepy looking"

"Right. So Hiccup about the training" Astrid looks at him when the wind suddenly picks up and the cold air getting firmer, making trees move. Everyone shivers, holding in their arms at the sudden chill.

"Did it just get colder out here?"

" It's the witch! I told you the tree was cursed!"

"CURSED!?"

"Tuffnut! Stop it, it's not cursed, and there is no witch. It was clearly struck by lightening"

"Well, that's what you think. Why had the wind suddenly picked up and became colder, HUH" Tuffnut snorts like he just won a battle

"The weather changes quickly before you know it. Clouds must be moving rapidly and storm clouds might be in the area" Hiccup looks at them

"Thanks, Hiccup. WAY to ruin it"

"I don't think it's a good idea to train out here now. It's not safe for us or good for the dragons. We'll have to wait and do this another day" Hiccup heading back towards the dragons and the others follow him.

"I still think it's cursed.." Tuffnut mumbles, making Fishlegs jump again

"TUFFNUT! ENOUGH!" Astrid stopping and taking a moment to yell at him while Fishlegs still shakes and holds the fish close.

Hiccup sits up in his bed at home, drawing in his book and listening to the sound of the wind outside. He looks over at Toothless who is looking at the small window and smiles at him. He closes the book, setting it aside and stretches a bit before falling back against the bed. Hiccup looks up, hearing small sounds and Toothless is just inches away from his face.

"What's wrong, Toothless?" Toothless licks his face, making him smile and does it again. Hiccup is laughing at the kisses Toothless is giving him and opens his eyes to see him above now. Hiccup stays quietly, looking up at Toothless before he jumps off and looks for him. Hiccup suddenly feels a tug at his pants and becomes alert when they go flying off with the blanket, making a quick cover with his hands.

"Toothless, stop!" Hiccup watches when Toothless climbs back over him and stays quiet again just staring up at Toothless. The words 'no' and 'stop' were just not leaving Hiccup's mouth, as much as he wanted to say it but they did not come out again. Toothless licks Hiccup's mouth once, watching his reaction, Hiccup just keeps his lips together and eyes closed. Toothless keeps licking or rather kissing him, enjoying that Hiccup was not stopping him.

Hiccup feels Toothless stop liking him and he opens his eyes to locate him. Toothless appears down towards his legs, taking the advantage to move his hands away and Hiccup feels a hot breath along with a tongue on a certain private area.

"Toothless-" Hiccup doesn't get out more than his dragon's name before letting out a tiny gasp at the sensation. It's not any different from the first time, but Hiccup is feeling this.

He was REALLY feeling it this time.

It's like the first time over again, but perhaps different. The first time, Hiccup was new to this and wasn't sure what pleasure felt like. It is rushing through him like a wave and driving his insides crazy, nothing like the first time, his mind is empty except for the sensation he's feeling from Toothless licking him. Hiccup attempts to move his legs so his knees are up and legs closer to each other, but Toothless pins them down, stopping them from any other movement. Hiccup grabs on to his pillow, letting out quiet moans while his opposite hand muffles the sounds coming from his mouth. His breathing is heavier and eyes cloudy, he is getting lost in the pleasure.

Hiccup looks after the feeling of pleasure has stopped along with the licking, he looks to locate Toothless again. Toothless appears at the end of the bed, head still between his legs and Hiccup looks with a question on his face of what Toothless could possibly be doing there. Hiccup goes to call out to Toothless but is interrupted when his legs are forced up a little against Toothless.

Hiccup closes his eyes while expecting Toothless to continue, but they open quickly when feeling Toothless licking a different place.

"Toothless! Notâ€|there" Hiccup cannot stop the moans coming from his mouth while Toothless is licking a new area, a small entrance.

He wasn't sure what it was for but enjoying Hiccup jolting in pleasure while he keeps licking.

Toothless, being the only one of his kind, wasn't sure about mating because he has yet to. Human and dragons surely must mate differently and Toothless was not sure about what to do with the small entrance, he found on Hiccup just under his sensitive male parts. Toothless continues to assault the newly found area and giving it a little push, the end of his tongue trying to push its way inside. Toothless looks a little surprised as it does it again and Hiccup's body jerks up almost jumping.

Toothless does not stop. His tongue pushes more and he removes his paw from one of Hiccup's legs, using it to spread Hiccup's butt more than it already is. One of his nails gently slide inside, still licking the small entrance while leaving it resting inside and Toothless looks up at Hiccup to watch his expression.

Hiccup is holding his pillow tightly against his chest and muffling moans into it. He is in ecstasy, chest rising up and down fast and his body indulging in the pleasure. His free hand is clenching his own shirt tightly, little tears escaping his eyes. Besides the pleasure, there is surely pain. This is indeed uncomfortable to him and the first time for this as well. The intrusion inside him and the licking making him wet, this was defiantly something different. His body tenses up and he's only biting on his pillow, it makes Toothless look worried and pulls his paw gently out and away. Toothless climbs up over Hiccup again and lightly licks his face as if he was leaving small kisses, worried he hurt him.

Hiccup opens his eyes, which are still wet from the tears and looks at Toothless. He places both hands on the side of Toothless head and smiles at him before placing a kiss on his mouth.

"I'm okay, Toothless" Hiccup gives a reassuring smile at him and Toothless licks his face again. Toothless continues back down towards Hiccup's legs, forcing back in between them and licks him again but not in the same area. Hiccup whimpers a bit and moans but it wasn't the same feeling as when Toothless was using his bottom.

"T-Toothlessâ€¦please" Hiccup reaches down and his eyes open a little wider at the realization.

Was he just about to beg? To his dragon to do more dirty things to him?

Hiccup is distracted and wondering what he would have said if he kept begging, but is pulled away when Toothless goes lower again, making him moan louder. Hiccup feels something pushing on his small entrance again and starts pushing back against it, over and over again which is drawing him close to release. It doesn't take long before Hiccup is biting on his pillow and mumbling his dragon's name into it as well, riding into his release not caring much about the mess. His arm hangs free to the side of his bed and he falls into a deep sleep, forgetting everything else.

Hiccup wakes to the sound of noisy people and Toothless licking his hand. He sits up feeling a small pain in his bottom and blushes a bright red while remembering most of last night. Hiccup shakes it off and changed into his clothing before anyone decides to storm in, seeing him half naked. He smiles at Toothless, rubbing head and proceeding down the stairs where he is greeted by Stoick.

"Good morning, son"

"Morning dad. No Gobber today?" Hiccup grabs a small bit of food, eating it quickly and throwing a fish for Toothless who eats it whole.

"He will probably be here later. Your friends are waiting outside, I have been just about to go get you"

"I know. I can hear Astrid yelling"

"You know some day you'll have to understand how the female body work-" Stoick is interrupted by Hiccup already leaving out the door

"No thanks, Dad! I'll see you later!" Hiccup stands outside the door, letting out a heavy sigh and walks down towards the others.

"About time, Hiccup!"

"Sorry. It was a long night.. of drawing ideas" Hiccup steadies his breathing while Astrid watches him

"So are we going to get this training in or what!" Snotlout raises his fists in the air while walking with the twins beside him and Fishlegs behind. Hiccup follows behind them shortly after, Astrid walks as well but stops and turns to Toothless just a couple feet away.

"Toothless, if you can understand me, there is something I want to talk to you about" Astrid crosses her arms, a serious look on her face and Toothless stares with a low growl in his throat.
